Court Ruling Smith Threat

Former alderman J. Donald Smith, said yesterday that if his request for a public inquiry into the passing of the city's off-street parking and downtown improvement bylaw was not granted, or if an inquiry found the bylaw valid, he would seek a ruling from the B.C. Supreme Court on its validity.

Labor Council Told:

Radiation Shipyard Problem

A boilermakers' delegate told Victoria Labor Council Monday that while working in a local shipyard he was taken ill "with possible effects of radiation."

Chester M. Preston said "doctors in Victoria wouldn't go out on a limb, but my own doctor told me the results were slightly similar to those he read of, caused by radiation."

He said while working in confined spaces in ship construction with tungsten welding equipment "radiation is terrific." He described its effects by saying "it will bleach ordinary clothes white and after two or three weeks when you wash them, they fall to pieces."

He said on at least two occasions readings taken on a geiger counter in some confined spaces were sufficiently high to cause officials to "clear the area" until it dispersed.

VLC decided to make Mr. Preston its delegate to a Vancouver meeting sponsored by the Workmen's Compensation Board to discuss effects of industrial radiation.
